

THE REPORTED CAPTURE OF YANCEY.

He Attempts to Run the Blockade in the Disguise of a Sailor.

William L. Yancey was captured a few days since on board of a schooner which was trying to run the blockade. He was dressed in sailor's clothes, and was recognized by one of the newspaper correspondents.

Who is William L. Yancey?

William L. Yancey is a native of the State of South Carolina, where he was born in 1815. For many years past he has resided in the great cotton State of Alabama. Mr. Yancey is a cotton planter, and until the date of secession of Alabama was a member of the bar of that State. Though exercising some influence upon the politics of the South during the last twenty years, Mr. Yancey has not during the last five years been a member of the House of Representatives.

When the venerable A. Pick, formerly editor of the Family Journal, was a young man, and taught school, Yancey was one of his pupils, sitting on the same benches with some who are now among the most respectable citizens. At a later period he went to Williams College, a pupil, and his mad frolics and pranks so bewildered and annoyed the faculty of that institution that they were obliged to expel him thence, and to complete his education elsewhere.

REBEL PRISONERS.

Arrival of the Rhode Island at Philadelphia—More Prisoners Taken in the Gulf.

The Rhode Island, from Key West, arrived here last evening with fifty prisoners from the privateer Beargard and other vessels attempting to run the blockade.

THE BATTLE OF PEA RIDGE.

Plains of the Battle Fields.

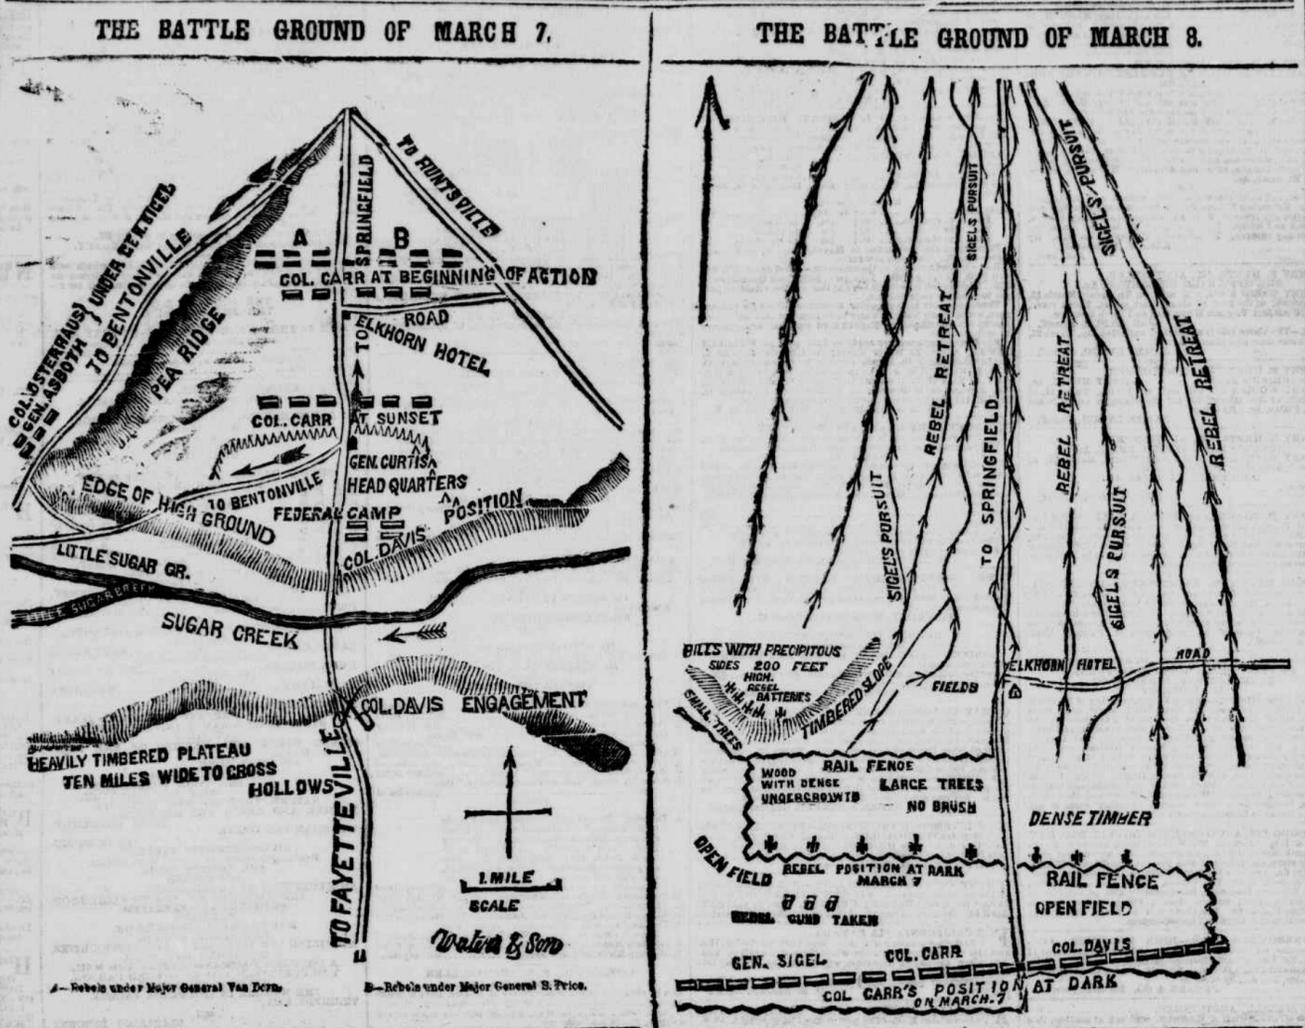

We present to-day elaborate plans of the fields of strife in Arkansas, to illustrate the graphic description which appeared in our issue of the 19th inst. The plans are almost explicit enough in themselves without further description.

THE FIRST DAY. The plan of the action of the 7th shows where it commenced, and how Colonel Carr's division was attacked and driven back by the combined rebel forces under Generals Van Dorn and Price, and although bravely contesting the ground, our forces found that success, they were repulsed in a position taken at the beginning.

THE SECOND DAY. The plan of the next day's fight shows that the place where Colonel Carr's forces slept on their arms, the rebels being in their immediate front, and next day, during the night they were reinforced by Colonel Davis on the right, and General Sigel on the left.

THE HARD FIGHT AT BATTLE OF PEA RIDGE.

The Battle Fields of March 7 and 8, 1862 at Pea Ridge, Arkansas--The Flight and the Pursuit.

THE BATTLE OF PEA RIDGE. IMPORTANT FROM TENNESSEE.

THE BATTLE OF PEA RIDGE.

Plains of the Battle Fields. We present to-day elaborate plans of the fields of strife in Arkansas, to illustrate the graphic description which appeared in our issue of the 19th inst.

THE FIRST DAY. The plan of the action of the 7th shows where it commenced, and how Colonel Carr's division was attacked and driven back by the combined rebel forces under Generals Van Dorn and Price.

THE SECOND DAY. The plan of the next day's fight shows that the place where Colonel Carr's forces slept on their arms, the rebels being in their immediate front, and next day, during the night they were reinforced by Colonel Davis on the right, and General Sigel on the left.

IMPORTANT FROM TENNESSEE.

The citizens of Gallatin, Tenn., a town which had been decidedly disloyal, met in town meeting recently and voted to petition for a post-office there, and expressed a willingness to return to their allegiance.

Speech of Governor Johnson. Adams' Express Company has delivered us Nashville papers of the 19th inst., from which we extract a few interesting items.

THE FLORIDA CAMPAIGN.

Official Reports of the Officers of Commodore Dupont's Squadron—Interesting Particulars of the Operations on the Coast of the Peninsula, &c., &c.

Stand-by Advertisements. We notice in the Nashville Republican Banner of Monday a few old advertisements addressed to the 'people of the Confederate States of America.'

THE BATTLE GROUND OF MARCH 7.

should be punished and treason crushed. He came with no hostility or animosity in his heart; he came for the defense of the weak, the restoration of the erring, the punishment of the guilty, the re-establishment of the Union and constitution in Tennessee.

Who were the Rebel Generals from Tennessee? [From the Nashville Patriot, March 15.] It is announced that the Confederate government has appointed Samuel B. Maxier and Hamilton P. Bell, of Tennessee, Brigadier Generals.

THE BATTLE GROUND OF MARCH 8.

REBEL PURSUIT. REBEL RETREAT. REBEL PURSUIT. REBEL RETREAT. REBEL PURSUIT. REBEL RETREAT. REBEL PURSUIT. REBEL RETREAT.

SHIPPING NEWS.

Port of New York, March 20, 1862. ARRIVED. S.S. SEABOARD PAINT. Capt. S. B. ... S.S. ...

MISCELLANEOUS.

AN IMPORTANT WORK ON PHYSIOLOGY. Paris. London and New York. Medical Adviser and Guide. Inquiries which have been carried on in the body...

SMITH & BROTHERS.

NEW YORK. PALE. In whole, half and quarter cases, brewed from the choicest barley malt and hops. Brewery 135 and 160 West Eighteenth Street.